

SCRS Global Oncology

Oncology Site Assessment and Engagement Meeting Summary June 2021

Most of the team's June meeting was spent reviewing and discussing the results of the recent Oncology Membership Survey. The survey's primary focus was how SCRS member sites who are involved in oncology research utilize and find value in SCRS membership and programs.

Some key insight is the fact that most members find value in SCRS webinars, the Trial Opportunity Platform, and our publications. The team also was able to glean possible new or enhanced benefits as a result of the survey that will be part of future discussions. The largest expectations for joining SCRS are making connections and growing their networks. These are all important insights and when coupled with the rest of the survey results will directly advise the future work of this team.

Subsequent discussion was also focused on what to do with these results. Including addressing training demands on the site and how we can work to improve the modality of training. There was also discussion around how we can enable sites to share the benefits of SCRS benefits with others, through possible incentive programs as well as easy-to-use resources like pamphlets.

The team's next meeting will be spent discussing how these results directly correlate into the goals and proposed action items of the group that were decided at previous meetings.
