Decentralized Trials Workstream Meeting Summary - July 2022

Momentous progress continues to be made by the team working on the Decentralized Trials Journey. The journey map itself is considered final at this point, and the team has shifted its focus into the individual elements of a decentralized trial, working to construct the detail associated with each.

The team divided the heading areas to tackle them in smaller groups:

Protocol Design, Feasibility, Start-up, SIV, and Close-out. Other sections will be worked on in subsequent meetings, but these were the focuses at this time.

The next step is to begin to build out the sections based on the work done by the team into the body of the document that will accompany the journey map, then continue to build out the individual sections so that the reader will have a comprehensive understanding of engaging in a decentralized Trial.

The current journey map and supplemental document will be shared post the Global Site Solutions Summit in October, 2022.
